ADMIRAL BRUEN ARRIVES HERE ON INSPECTION

Comes With Secretary of British Sailors' Society to See Branches Throughout Canada

TO MEET THE CITY WORKERS

"Canada has to face the question her mercantile marine. There are people in Canada who not only never seen the sea, and this omission, with her ever-increasing trade and her ever-growing seafaring, should wake up to the fact that it is not the slightest good to neglect vast quantities of wheat less there are the sailors to carry to the markets of the world."

MESSAGE FROM PRINCE

They sailed from Liverpool on October 5, having received the following message from the Prince of Wales, a month previously:

Dear Mr. Barker, I have heard that you and Admiral Bruen are touring in Canada a couple of months. I write to you that I hope your efforts on behalf of the British Sailors' Society will meet with the greatest possible success. Believe me,

Yours truly,

At Ottawa the Governor-General Canada expressed himself as tremendously interested in their tour, and particularly asked that they call on him to report progress on their return journey.

Canadians Urged To Take Interest In World Policy

OTTAWA, Nov. 12.—An exposition of European conditions leading up to the treaties of Locarno, coupled with a plea for the people of the British Dominions to interest themselves in foreign affairs, so that the policies of London might represent not only those of the British Government, but would also respond to sentiment in all the constituent parts of the Empire, furnished the theme of a thought-provoking address delivered by Sir Austen Chamberlain to the Canadian Club here today.

TO DYNAMITE FLAMING WELL

OUTLAW GASSEIN CALIFORNIA OIL FIELD STILL BLAZES UNABATED

Efforts Under Way to Snuff Out Flame by Use of Dynamite—Oil May Follow Gas

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11.—Efforts to snuff out the 100-foot flaming gas torch at Santa Fe Springs oil field with dynamite were under way here today as the "outlaw" gasser, which came in with a violent explosion early Friday, immediately bursting into flames, continued to burn unabated.

Workers at the field said that if the fire continues as a gasser dynamite will probably be successful, but they were of the opinion that if oil starts to flow to the surface with the gas, the method would not only fail to stop the blaze, but would splutter burning oil over a large area, which would result in a great conflagration.

The force of the gas as it rushed to the surface of the well, feeding the flames, was approximately 50,000 cubic feet of fuel a day, according to make the ground tremble for a large radius, and the heat from the flames further hampered workers who were laying plans to shut off the tremendous jet and subdue the flames.

At Ottawa the Governor-General Canada expressed himself as tremendously interested in their tour, and particularly asked that they call on him to report progress on their return journey.

PROCESS MAY DEVELOP FOR ISLAND'S AID

Mining Engineer Comes Here With Plan for Expressing of Oil From Shale and Black Sand

SEVERAL RETORTS HAVE BEEN BUILT

Cost of Each Unit Averages Up to $125,000, With Possibilities of High Extraction

A PROCESS of great importance to the mineral welfare of Vancouver Island is to be illustrated here by Mr. Magnus Rudolph Kraul, of Denver, Col., who has developed a process of treating oil shale on a scale of commercial importance, and who has been attracted to Vancouver Island not only on account of the bituminous coal field, but from the presence of black sands on the West Coast, and at Texada Island.

Mr. Kraul, who is registered at the Empress Hotel, wishes to show his objectives to mining men, to experts of the Provincial Government, and others interested, and for that purpose his associates have called a meeting this evening, at which he will discuss the possibilities of obtaining the world's supply of gasoline, oils, and by-products from coal and shale. The address will be illustrated by film, maps, and samples.

The cost of a plant to manufacture from shale with a capacity of from 500 to 600 tons a day, he estimates to be from $125,000 to $150,000.

SEVERAL YEARS OF EFFORT

The Kraul retort, as several demonstrators, is the result of several years of experimentation on Western shale.

The Kraul process avoids internal mechanism by letting the shale travel down through the plant on its own gravity, the heat being increased as it approaches the burner zone at the bottom.

The great distinction between treating shale for oil extracting, and the treatment of black sand, is that the sand is ready at once, thus eliminating an important preliminary crushing process, which adds considerably to the expense.

The plant uses the uncondensable Continued on Page 2, Column 3

The Mauretania sailed from New York on November 9.

Mr. Coolidge Has Message Unique In Tone for Day

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Ten years to a day after the close of the world war, President Coolidge tonight replied in spirited language to criticisms of American isolation from the Old World and, at the same time reiterated the necessity of a more adequate naval defence for the United States and its possessions.

The President spoke at a meeting sponsored by the American Legion, and before delivering his speech he had gone to Arlington National Cemetery with Mrs. Coolidge to place a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

He declared that the construction of more cruisers was needed, and emphasized that the United States, in view of its geographical characteristics, treaty engagements and economic importance, and in view of its lack of fueling stations, was entitled to a larger number of warships than a nation having these advantages.

TENTH ANNIVERSARY

Choosing his text from Psalm cxviii, "O give thanks unto the Lord, for He is good, for His mercy endureth forever," Mr. Davies said: "Circumstances have conspired in our history to associate this season of Thanksgiving with the blessing of peace. Yesterday we observed the tenth anniversary of the Armistice, and it cannot but be that many sorrowful memories will be coupled today with thoughts of the loving kindness of our God.

SOS Call Brings Number Of Vessels in Haste to Aid

Three Hundred and Fifty Passengers and Crew Take to Boats in Heavy Seas When Lambert & Holt Liner About to Go Down 300 Miles Out on Atlantic Ocean

Six Ships Search Many Hours Fruitlessly in Vicinity of Position Reported by Vestris—Early This Morning Seventh Ship on Scene Finds One Boat

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 (Tuesday).—It was feared last night that all of the 350 passengers and crew of the Lambert-Holt liner Vestris, had perished three hundred miles out at sea in a storm which also wrecked several other vessels. At 4 o'clock this morning, however, word was received that one lifeboat had been found. The Radio Marine Corporation announced that the steamship American Shipper had sent word that one of the lifeboats from the abandoned steamer Vestris had been found. The message received at 4 p.m. follows: "Now on scene. One lifeboat alongside us."

Six ships were searching the Atlantic 300 miles off the Virginia Capes during the afternoon and night for 350 passengers and crew of the steamer Vestris who abandoned the ship in a sinking condition and took to the small boats yesterday.

Although the entire Atlantic seaboard kept its radio receivers tuned in and stations listened constantly, only negative reports of the rescue were received.

The United States battleship Wyoming, the coastguard destroyer Davis, the steamers San Juan, Porto Rico and Ohio Maru, and the motorship Santa Barbara were reported in messages picked up by shore stations to be cruising in the vicinity of the last position given by the Vestris. Although the searchlights constantly were sweeping the sea, all reported that they had not seen either the Vestris or its small boats.

The hardships that faced the shipwrecked passengers and crew and difficulties attending the search were indicated in reports from ships in the vicinity that there was a strong wind and heavy seas.

During the night the coastguard cutter Modoc, 150 miles at sea rushing to the aid of the survivors of the Vestris, was ordered to return to assist in the rescue work of a trawler which was driven ashore south of the Middle Island station in Virginia.

The Vestris was bound from New York for Barbados. There was a crew of 210 under Captain William Carey, commodore of the Lambert & Holt Line, and in three classes there were 120 passengers and a few unlisted ones. Among the passengers were many women and there were known to be at least half a dozen children.

The first call for help came just before 10 o'clock this morning, and three hours and a half later, at 1:25, the Vestris had been deserted by all on board. A derelict hurching suddenly in heavy seas remaining from the storm on Sunday.

First intimation of possible disaster was merely that three-letter cry for which the ears of seafarers are always strained, "SOS." The signal went over the air and immediately all broadcasting stations were closed in order that messages should not be interrupted.

The first full message read: "Vestris, Lambert & Holt Line, latitude 37°25 north, longitude 71°8 west, requires immediate assistance."

As soon as that was received all the agencies of rescue swung into action. Within an hour eleven steamers, flying the flags of seven nations, were on their way under forced draft, half a dozen coastguard craft had turned toward the scene, and the United States Navy prepared to offer what help it could.

As the rescue fleet converged on that spot, some 300 miles off Hampton Roads, the messages continued to come in from the sinking vessel although the wireless man must have been standing on the wall of his cabin as the water was creeping steadily up.

The operator confined himself largely to verifying the position of the Vestris and giving what aid he could to the speeding rescuers, all of them many miles away.

VESSEL FOUNDERS OFF CAPE HATTERAS

BALTIMORE, Nov. 12.—Captain W. W. Covert, of New York, master of the J. W. Hook, and two negro sailors, were reported missing today by Baltimore agents for the vessel, who received word of the sinking of the ship 150 miles southwest of Cape Hatteras.

PURCHASE RELIEVES SCIENTIST'S POVERTY

LONDON, Nov. 12.—The Daily Mail says that it has learned that the poverty of a man who has given his life to combating malaria has been relieved by the purchase of his papers for $10,000 by Lady Houston, wealthy widow of Sir Robert Houston.

Sir Ronald Ross, thirty years ago was one of the men who discovered that malaria is carried by mosquitoes. This discovery led to eradication of the fever which was endangering the completion of the Panama Canal. He was given his title but no other public award. Now, at the age of seventy-one, seriously ill and with the use of one arm gone, he has been living close to want in a tiny flat here. He offered the papers and books of his lifetime of study for sale to relieve his distress.

gases produced in the processes as fuel for the retorts, thus saving materially in consumption. The burners are so designed as to start on crude oil, and then switch to gas.

Spent shale is dropped from the retort into pits for use in making bricks and cement. Soluble potash and other important by-products are also recovered, and prepared for the market.

CHOICE OF SHALE AREA
The Kraul retort is made of cast iron with ends set in fire brick, the entire plant encased in fire brick to conserve heat. Mr. Kraul explained that he selected Denver for his experiments owing to the fact that it is located near the great shale deposits in Garfield County, which have been acquired by the leading oil producing companies ahead of the development of an economic system of producing oil from the shale.

These shale hills extend for many miles, and may be mined in the development of an economic system of producing oil from the shale. It was explained that eleven retorts have been built, Mr. Kraul having had the assistance in developing his processes of Mr. F. E. Hobson as carbonizing expert, Mr. P. Chappell Brown as architect, and Mr. T. J. Geisler as patent attorney.

Mr. Kraul says that in addition to the oil extraction there is a great field for by-products treatment from the shale and sand, covering all kinds of supplies needed in industrial chemistry. So far as Vancouver Island produce is concerned, he believes that it would be advantageous to treat the coal waste first, leaving for subsequent development the deposits of black sand, although economically the latter can be treated much more easily, and for that reason can be profitably extracted at greater distance from communication than is practicable in dealing with coal products.

To be able to produce motor oil within the limits of the country, Mr. Kraul points out, would be of the greatest importance to the economy of the country.

The whole of his time until the close of the contest in the furthering of the interests of the party whom he has been selected to represent.

The objects of our tour are threefold," said Admiral Bruen. "In the first place it is our object to look at different institutions which the society owns in Canada, to study conditions with a view to future policy, and to report to the London board. In the second place we are trying to rouse general interest in sailors and their needs, and also to raise funds for the work of the society. So far we have met with the best response in Montreal. And lastly we are trying to co-operate with worthy societies in this country that are also working for sailors."

Another object of the directors' tour is to meet the workers and friends of the society who have labored so long and devotedly for the cause, with which intention they will today meet a gathering of the Connaught Sailors' Institute, which is a Victoria organization under the auspices of the society.

ADMIRAL'S CAREER
Admiral Bruen has a long and distinguished record of service to his country. He was born in 1864, and entered the navy in 1881. He served in the Mediterranean, the Indian Ocean, and the North Atlantic. He was promoted to the rank of admiral in 1914. He was commander-in-chief of the British fleet in the Mediterranean from 1917 to 1919. He was commander-in-chief of the British fleet in the North Atlantic from 1919 to 1921. He was commander-in-chief of the British fleet in the Indian Ocean from 1921 to 1923. He was commander-in-chief of the British fleet in the Mediterranean from 1923 to 1925. He was commander-in-chief of the British fleet in the North Atlantic from 1925 to 1927. He was commander-in-chief of the British fleet in the Indian Ocean from 1927 to 1929.

GOD AND HISTORY
"History, again, is but the sphere in which God has operated for the fulfillment of His gracious purposes. If we think of history aright, we must regard it as the story of the gradual unfolding of God's plan to destroy ignorance and superstition, oppression and exploitation; to advance the cause of education and of true democracy; and above all, to bring about the evangelization of the peoples of the earth through the sacrifices and sufferings of millions of men and women. Leave out this factor in our civilization, and what would it be worth today? Indeed, how could we talk of history at all with God out of the reckoning? There would certainly be nothing left to boast about; for a history without God would be without hope."SPHERE OF GRACE
"Balfour claimed that circumstances won the Great War. Some call it circumstances, but others call it God. We may say of the whole of that it is a sphere of grace. We live in a universe of grace, and the truest thing about us is that we are beggars around the table of the Father."

Mr. Davies inquired what should be our response to the great Creator and Sustainer of all things for His Divine beneficence? There could be but one answer, thanksgiving, he said. But what of its motive? Just plain gratitude.

"Shall we join the women?" No, but yet, my friends are a trifle weak. I can't stand smoke. Louisville Courier-Journal.

BIG BROTHER MOVEMENT IS WELL FOUNDED

Capt. R. T. Thornton, M.C., Will Endeavor to Organize Similar Immigration Scheme in Canada

HAS CONFERENCE WITH PREMIER

"The Big Brother Movement scheme of immigration has met with such success in Australia that it is hoped to be able to interest Canada in the same movement," Captain R. T. Thornton, M.C., who is the traveling representative of the Big Brother Movement Society, stated just before his departure, yesterday afternoon, for Vancouver, where he will address a large gathering on that subject.

Captain Thornton has just completed a tour of Australia in the interests of the movement, and will return to Victoria on Wednesday to address a luncheon gathering here. He will spend several weeks in Canada with a view to organizing the movement here, and will hold a conference with Premier Tolmie on Wednesday morning. He saw the Premier yesterday on the subject, but will go to further detail with the scheme with the Premier at the Wednesday conference.

"Undoubtedly this system of immigration is far superior to any other, for our London office picks only the best type of boy from the schools, boys who wish to take up farming in one of the Dominions. Before we send a boy out we find a 'Big Brother' in the country he is to be sent to, someone who will keep personally in touch with him. This type of immigrant, while started out as a farm laborer, usually ends up as a farm owner, for his parents generally invest money for him when he becomes proficient in the agricultural industry," Captain Thornton declared.

"We have sent 1,500 boys to Australia under this system, and so far the number of failures under this scheme has been less than 4 per cent," he stated.

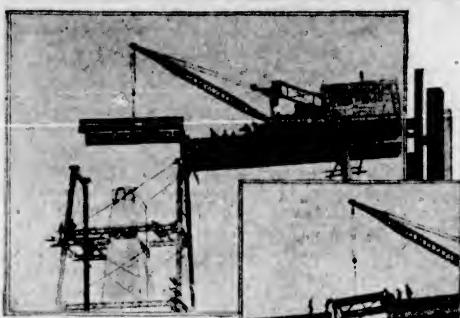

FOUNDED THE MOVEMENT

The Big Brother Movement was founded by Mr. Richard Linton, M.L.A., and is designed to care for British boys between fifteen and nineteen years of age, who go out to Australia to work on the land and to provide after care for them until they are twenty-four years old. There is a London office that selects the boys from the best type of family. Officers in the different state capitals of Australia select the Big Brothers. The boy is then sent to Australia, where he is met by the Big Brother, who has found employment for the boy. These employees are also chosen carefully and give a guarantee to engage the boy on his arrival. A wage is paid the boy and his keep provided. The wage is increased as the boy becomes more accomplished in his work.

The Big Brother undertakes to care for the moral and general welfare of his Little Brother until the latter attains the age of twenty-one years. The Big Brother also undertakes to introduce the boy to his family when possible and act as mediator between the boy and his employer. He acts in this regard with the full support of the movement behind him, thus furthering the boy's cause.

The Little Brother is selected if clean living, well-mannered, British and determined to work hard on the land in Australia. He must have reached at least the sixth standard of elementary education, and has to pass the medical tests of the migration authorities in Australia House, London. The boy under-

Great Engineering Feat

THIS year the Canadian Pacific engineers at Toronto have been faced with the problem of entirely replacing a thirteen span bridge over the Don Valley without interfering with traffic. The accomplishment of this feat, it is said, will go down in engineering history as being a noteworthy contribution to the science of bridge building.

The original bridge was built of steel in 1888 and was 1,150 feet long and 75 feet high. The new bridge rests on concrete piers which were poured from the top of the old structure. When these were set, and provided there were no strong winds, each of the new forty-five-ton spans were laid as opportunity offered. Everything was in readiness, and in between trains a gang of workmen ripped up the old track and laid another group, climbed up the old steel piers and undid the bolts preparatory to demolition. Then from one side of the valley a huge derrick removed a section of the old bridge to a siding, when the new span was brought up from the other side and launched into position. A temporary span filled a small gap between the old and the new spans, new ties and tracks were laid and the bridge was ready for traffic or the repetition of the process on another span.

Photos show a portion of the old bridge being torn away and, inst., a temporary span being placed between a section of the new structure and the old.

WHY ARE CIVILIZED RACES DISEASED?

Bully question? No, for savages are not diseased. Neither are the Carthusian monks of Surrey, England, the natives of Hunza, in India, or of Northern Nigeria in Africa. Dr. Robt. O. Jackson, in his book, "HOW TO BE ALWAYS WELL," tells why the same wrong living habits that caused himself to almost die at fifty, when the great Sir Wm. Osler said he'd die inside four months.

Foods ought to be alkaline-formers, but civilization's foods are acid-formers, and acid-forming foods cause disease.

To avoid death, Dr. Jackson lived for two whole years upon alkaline-forming Roman Meal (in which is 25% flaxin, possessing unique food properties) at which time he was entirely well. Write for new uncooked Roman Meal recipe and a copy of his free booklet, "HOW TO KEEP WELL," to Dr. Robt. O. Jackson, 315 Vine Ave., Toronto (9), Ont. (Adv.)

SO long as you neglect to combat the disease of neglect (Pyorrhea) health is jeopardized. This germ foe which ignores the teeth and attacks the gums takes its victims 4 out of 5 after forty and thousands younger.

Take this precaution: See your dentist every six months. And start using Forhan's for the Gums, today.

As a dentifrice alone, you would prefer it. Without the use of harsh abrasives, it helps to keep teeth clean and restore their natural whiteness. Also it protects them against acids which cause decay.

But Forhan's is more than an ordinary dentifrice. If used regularly and in time, it helps to firm gums and keep them sound and healthy. And Pyorrhea seldom attacks healthy gums.

Get a tube of Forhan's today! Use this dentifrice every morning and night. Massage your gums daily with it, following directions in booklet that comes with tube. This good habit is health insurance. Two sizes—35c and 60c. Formula of R. J. Forhan, D.D.S. Forhan's Limited, Montreal

Armistice Day Marked By Anniversary Service

Many Flowers Are Laid on War Memorial at Annual Service of Commemoration—Cenotaph Gathering Larger Than Ever Before

In spite of the hour clashing with church services, the Armistice Period Committee on Sunday morning obtained the largest audience which has gathered to listen to the annual service of Remembrance. The Cenotaph at Parliament Square was surrounded with a group of attentive listeners during the series of religious exercises, which extended over half an hour.

The veterans' parade assembled at the corner of Yates and Blanshard Streets, and marched to the scene by way of Yates Street, Douglas Street and Belleville Street, headed by detachments from the naval and military permanent forces. General Sir Percy Lake marshalled the veterans, assisted by Sergeant-Major Wilson. The bands in attendance were the Sixteenth Canadian Scottish, brass and pipe bands, the Salvation Army Band, and the Victoria Prize Band.

Captain Underwood had charge of the military detachment from the P.P.C.L.I. and the naval men from the barracks and H.M.C.S. Vancouver, were in charge of Lieutenant Roy.

TWO MINUTES' SILENCE

The signal for the commencement of the service was the firing of a time gun at Work Point Barracks.

Buglers at the Cenotaph, and at the various points outside the principal churches also aided in giving warning of the two minutes' silence.

Rev. J. W. Leighton conducted the service, being assisted by Rev. Dr. Campbell.

THE ADDRESS

Speaking from St. John, xv. 12-13, "This is My Commandment, that ye love one another, even as I have loved you. Greater love hath no man than this—that a man lay down his life for his friends," Mr. Leighton said.

"When we buckled on our armor and marched off to the war, we were so full of bright visions for the future. And now, with our arms laid aside, we look back over ten years and we sometimes ask:

"Has it got us any further?"

"What! Can we really believe that they whose memory we honor today gave their lives in vain? Is it for nothing that men still suffer—the maimed, the blind, the gassed? Is it to a lost cause that wives have given their husbands and mothers their sons?"

Major the Rev. B. Ceitho-Davies Officiates at Impressive Address at St. David's Hall

Welsh people in Victoria were accorded a great pleasure in St. David's Hall, 1414 Douglas Street, on Sunday, the visit of Major Rev. B. Ceitho-Davies, whose home is in the Cymry of Victoria. After presenting official greetings from the Gorsedd of the Bards of Wales, a Welsh service was conducted by the reverend chaplain, which was impressive, inspiring and full of "hymni." The hymns sung were "Cwm Rhonda," "Hudde's Field," "Aberystwyth," "Moab" and "Crug-y-Bar." The anthem, "Mae'n rhaid i'r Jesu" was rendered by the Victoria Welsh Choir, conducted by Mr. J. Jones. A vocal solo, "Yn iach i ti Gymru," was given by Margaret Cadogan Williams. Mrs. Rhonwen Mason was the organist.

The service had such a stimulating effect in arousing the Cymraeg spirit among the local Welsh, that it was decided to arrange for Sunday, November 18, at 3 p.m., in the same hall. An additional interesting feature at this service will be the singing of the hymn "The Bard Ceitho." It is hoped that those Welsh folks who for divers reasons were unable to be present last Sunday will reserve next Sunday for this second service and bring their Welsh hymn books and thus take advantage of the temporary presence of Rev. B. Ceitho-Davies.

Berlin Acknowledges Bravery of Thurso Lifeboat Crew in Saving Men of Hamburg Ship

The German Government has awarded the crew of the lifeboat at Thurso, Caithnessshire, diplomas and certificates in gratitude for their services to the German steamer Aase, of Hamburg, which went ashore and was wrecked near Thurso on March 16. A strong southerly wind was blowing, with heavy rain, and the weather was bitterly cold when the lifeboat was launched at 10 o'clock at night. The captain of the Aase was loth to abandon his vessel, and the lifeboat stood by her all that night and all the following day. When the second night came the captain decided to leave the steamer, and he and his crew of fourteen men were taken on board the lifeboat and brought ashore. The lifeboat arrived at her station about twenty-two hours after she was launched.

Generous Donor Undertakes to Defray Cost of Renovation and Removal of Organ

WILL GIVE LEAD TO FURNISHING

The Dean of Columbia announced at Sunday morning's service in Christ Church Cathedral that an anonymous donor had undertaken to rebuild and enlarge the organ for use in the new cathedral. The gift was a thankoffering, the dean stated, in appreciation of the cathedral service. He added that as the time for the consecration of the new building had been fixed for next September or October, it was desirable that all who wished to present memorial gifts should communicate with the cathedral authorities as soon as possible.

The new cathedral committee has received already, as memorial or thankoffering gifts, provision for the stonework and stained glass for a number of windows in the aisles and west front. In order to have these windows ready by next September, negotiations have been entered into with certain artists in stained glass, and the work will be put in hand immediately.

Other gifts which have been selected by donors include various articles of furniture required for use in the sanctuary, settees, porches and vestries of the new building. For those who wish to present gifts in memory of children, it is stated that a number of articles

"ROSE MARIE" PLAYS TO CAPACITY HOUSE

Tuneful and Gorgeously Staged Production Is Enthusiastically Applauded at Royal

Tuneful music is absolutely essential to the success of a musical comedy. And if the tuneless music has already been fairly well memorized, if the songs fit easily and naturally into the story, if the story has a gorgeous setting and interesting episodes, so much the better. "Rose Marie" heard (and seen) at the Royal Victoria Theatre yesterday for the first time, had all these, prefaced by the long and good advertisement of two or three metropolitan seasons. People knew the story, and they knew the music. Little wonder, then, that the box office has been besieged as never before through the whole of 1928, and that two capacity houses, the third and last performance to-night, beginning at 8:15 sharp, will also play to a packed house.

There have been many "Rose Maries." But Victoria is more than content with the production which has come this way. After hearing Virginia Fox in the title part, her conception of the role becomes biased in favor of just the particular quality which her beautiful body also plays to a packed house.

Seattle P.-I. Party Coming—A party of thirty people, organized by the circulation department of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, will arrive in the city today on a brief visit.

Visited Interior—For the purpose of looking into matters connected with his department, that of Public Works, Hon. N. S. Loughheed visited the interior of the province over the week-end.

Victoria West P.-T.A.—The Victoria West Parent-Teacher Association will meet this month on Tuesday, November 20, on week later than the usual time. Miss A. T. Riddell will be the speaker and there will also be a soloist.

Visits Sanatorium—Hon. S. L. Howe, Provincial Secretary, paid a visit to the Sanatorium at Kamloops, B.C., during the week-end, in order to become better acquainted with the conditions there. This institution came under the department of Mr. Howe in its administration.

Car Wrecked—A car stolen from the vicinity of the Y.M.C.A. on Vancouver Street on Saturday night, and owned by Mr. C. E. Jeffrey, of the Dominion Experimental Farm, was totally wrecked at the corner of Burrard and Jutland Street at 10:45 o'clock Sunday night.

Inquest Today—An inquest will be held today into the death of Mr. Cecil Burton Rowbottom, of 647 Niagara Street. Coroner E. C. Hart has called the hearing for 10 o'clock morning in the Sands Funeral Parlor. Mr. Rowbottom was found dead on the sidewalk on Gordon Street last Saturday night.

Rotary Ice Carnival—Thanks are extended to the Victoria Rotary Club for entertaining the children of the Protestant Orphanage and the Children's Aid Home at the Rotary Ice Carnival on Saturday night, to David Spencer, Limited, for candy, and to the C. & C. Taxi Service for transportation of the children to and from the carnival.

Will Study Conditions—The Department of Public Works will make an investigation into the possibility of a route for a wagon road between Prince Rupert and Terrace, where the Interior highway system, now under way, is connected up with the line of the coast highway. The route will not be too expensive from the coast city of Prince Rupert to a point near Terrace, has given a lot of trouble to the department in the past. Hon. N. S. Loughheed has given an assurance that he will have the matter looked into without delay.

Yuletide Celebration—The Canadian Pacific Railway, in connection with its proposed Yuletide celebration, appeals to the citizens to organize a community carol singing feature during the Christmas season around a large and properly illuminated tree in the Parliament Buildings square. Last year, it will be recalled, the Department of Public Works illuminated the fine redwood near Belleville Street, which made a monster Christmas tree. The decorations which are also sought for the downtown streets are already being arranged.

New Cadillac And La Salle Models on View

THE week of November 8 to 15 at the Beggs Motor Co. Ltd., Yates Street, devoted to the display of the models by Cadillac and La Salle. Here are to be seen all the significant changes in outer appearance made in these fine cars for the coming year; also the new Duplex-mechanical four-wheel brakes which provide for every strain imposed by modern high-speed motoring; the new Synchro-Mesh transmission, which renders gear shifting a well-nigh subconscious operation even for the unskilled driver; and many other refinements are details of interest that will be explained to all who visit the Beggs Motor Company's showrooms this week.

required for the "Children's Corner" which is to be a part of the new cathedral. All equipment and furniture in the cathedral will be made according to designs submitted by the architect, Mr. J. C. M. Keith, so as to harmonize with the style and proportions of the building.

There are several windows in the west front and other parts of the cathedral that have not yet been applied for and details of these, and of all articles of furniture needed, may be obtained from the cathedral officials, or at the new cathedral committee's office in the Memorial Hall, 912 Vancouver Street.

"ROSE MARIE" PLAYS TO CAPACITY HOUSE

Tuneful and Gorgeously Staged Production Is Enthusiastically Applauded at Royal

Tuneful music is absolutely essential to the success of a musical comedy. And if the tuneless music has already been fairly well memorized, if the songs fit easily and naturally into the story, if the story has a gorgeous setting and interesting episodes, so much the better. "Rose Marie" heard (and seen) at the Royal Victoria Theatre yesterday for the first time, had all these, prefaced by the long and good advertisement of two or three metropolitan seasons. People knew the story, and they knew the music. Little wonder, then, that the box office has been besieged as never before through the whole of 1928, and that two capacity houses, the third and last performance to-night, beginning at 8:15 sharp, will also play to a packed house.

Prospector May Come Into His DesertsGEORGE CAMPBELL CARSON

An old-time "desert rat," George Campbell Carson, who after years of litigation with copper companies over a patent used in smelting furnaces, may at last reap a reward of millions from his invention, according to word from San Francisco. His attorneys say that the one-time prospector is in a position to collect approximately $20,000,000, although he may not get it all as several capitalists financed his claim and must be recompensed.

admirably. Peggy Pates is a clever little comedienne, and playing opposite Richards provoked many a hearty laugh. Mira Niraka looked to be the part of Wanda, the Indian girl, and showed a lynx-like grace which was particularly effective in her totem dance and again in pictorial Indian dream in the grand ballroom at the Chateau.

The orchestration is very pleasing throughout, and helps to make the performance one of the most brilliant and tuneless ever presented here.

MR. THOS. J. TRAPP RECEIVES AWARD

Pioneer New Westminster Business Man Is Named Recipient of Citizenship Medal

To Mr. Thomas John Trapp, pioneer business man and connected with various organizations laboring for the welfare of New Westminster, goes the honor of being the first to be selected by New Westminster Council No. 4, Native Sons of British Columbia, as the recipient for the medal for good citizenship. Mr. Trapp is well known throughout British Columbia, and has many friends in Victoria.

The presentation of the good citizenship award will be made to Mr. Trapp by Mayor A. W. Wells Gray, M.P.P., at an Appreciation Day banquet, to be held by the Native Sons of British Columbia at the Hotel Russell, New Westminster, on Monday evening, November 19.

Mr. Trapp was born at Waltham Abbey, England, in 1842, and after an experience as a salesman with a London firm, came to Canada in 1872, and first located at St. Thomas, Ontario. He first visited Victoria and New Westminster in 1873, and has been a resident of the Royal City since 1880. He has taken a prominent part in the business and commercial life of New Westminster.

One of the outstanding features of Mr. Trapp's participation in the Royal City's progress has been the interest he has shown in the Royal Agricultural and Industrial Society of British Columbia. For twenty years he was president and he still retains a directorship on that body. Mr. Trapp was connected with the New Westminster School Board for well over twenty years, and during the time he occupied the position of chairman over a long period.

200 SWEET YEARS

Famous English Firm Have Supplied Chocolates During Reign of Seven Rulers

Two hundred years of chocolate making was celebrated by J. S. Fry & Sons, Ltd., of Bristol and Somerset, in a bicentenary number of Fry's World Magazine. This is a remarkable record of "sweetness." Lord Riddell, in a special article, says: "I am told that every working day Messrs. Fry turn out on an average two and a half million pieces of chocolate. Just reflect for a moment what that means when resolved into human happiness!" The firm's history is one of continual progress during the reigns of no fewer than seven Sovereigns, and under the control of the same family.

NEW METHOD LAUNDRIES LIMITED

LAUNDERERS, DYERS AND DRY CLEANERS

Fashion Fancies

By Marie Belmont

The vogue for fur has reached such an intensity that whole suits are made of the flat pelts.

Such a one is pictured in the illustration above. Of beige broadtail, the coat and skirt are cut on straight lines. The blouse, however, strikes a more feminine note. It is of tan crepe, embroidered in brown, with an amusing tie and a bow, also in brown.

Notice that the pocketbook is of broadtail exactly matching the suit itself.

Chrysanthemum Tea

The chrysanthemum tea arranged by the management at the Empress Hotel on Sunday afternoon was a delightful innovation and enjoyed by a large number of patrons. Beautiful feathery blooms of the larger varieties, in many shades, were arranged in the centre of the palm-rooms, and round the lounge, and in the ballroom single pink chrysanthemums were placed round the walls and on the tea tables, all being products of the Empress Hotel greenhouses. During tea the hotel three-piece orchestra played, assisted by Mrs. Josephine Woods, who delighted the guests with several songs. The orchestra dais was attractively arranged with palms and tall graceful baskets of vari-hued dahlias. Among those noticed at tea were Mrs. Archer Martin, Mrs. John Galt, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Hartley, Captain and Mrs. W. C. Thackray, Mrs. Hermann Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. B. Ker, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Ker, Mr. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. C. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Willgress, Mr. L. C. Ogilvie, Miss Ogilvie, Mrs. Crow

Teeth Grow Whiter

When film is removed this way

Now special film-removing dentifrice whitens amazingly when ordinary methods fail.

SCIENCE has discovered the chief source of common tooth and gum disorders and of dull, ugly teeth. It is a film that forms on teeth and clings so stubbornly brushing cannot remove it successfully.

You can feel film with your tongue—a slippery, sticky coating. It clings to teeth and gets into crevices and stays. It absorbs stains from food and smoking. Germs by millions breed in it, and they, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. To remove film, dentists prescribe the special film-removing dentifrice called Pepsodent. In a few days teeth grow whiter and begin to sparkle. Get Pepsodent at any drug counter or write for free 10-day supply to The Pepsodent Co., 191 George St., Toronto 2, Ont., Canada.

"BARBERRY BUSH"

One Girl's Marriage Problems
By KATHLEEN NORRIS

The clock struck nine, struck ten, and still Link Mackenzie sat before the fire in his dimly lighted bedroom, his jaws set, his half-drooping eyes fixed on the flames, his big fingers loosely linked, thinking.

The luxury, the beauty and order of his own home had struck him with a sharp sense of pain after his long ride back from the ranch.

His father was dining at the Roaches, where he would play bridge afterward. Link had old Martin bring him a tray with his dinner and went over his mail as he absent-mindedly disposed of the meal Tilly had taken pains to make unusually inviting.

And all the time he thought of Barbara. Somehow her material disadvantage worried him bitterly tonight. Barry was an ass, of course, but she had married him and she must love him—girls did love such men.

But the loneliness, the silence, the desolation of the old hacienda. No lights, no luxury, no bathroom and reading for Barbara, no kindly efficient service and delicately cooked food.

"What hell she's been through!" he muttered half aloud. "Married, and with a baby! Barbara—let's see—she isn't twenty-five yet. What'll become of her, I wonder? For she surely can't go on like that."

There was a fat letter from Marianne among his other letters; he kept it to the last. She always wrote him exhaustively when she was away: pages and pages of large sprawling handwriting, almost illegible, as was the fashion of her generation, arrived almost every day.

Link read this letter, sent away his tray, lowered the lights and flung himself into his leather chair, and here he sat—while the clock hands moved from eight to nine and nine to ten—thinking.

It was after eleven when he heard his father coming softly upstairs, and going to his own door, called to him.

"Dad, could you come in here a minute? I want to talk to you about something."

Major Tom, rosy from his recent encounter with the cold night air, was instantly concerned.

"Feel all right?" he asked anxiously, coming in. He put his overcoat, cap and muffler on a chair, rubbed his cold hands together and approached the fire with a long "ah-h-h!" of satisfaction.

And then, with a keen look at his son, as he sank into the leather chair Link had just vacated, he asked again: "You're all right, aren't you?"

"I guess so," Link said boyishly, miserably. And he took the chair opposite his father, planted his elbows on his knees, and bowed himself far forward, his big hands rumpling his hair.

"Why, what is it?" the older man asked tenderly. And there was breaking, was expectation, as well as sympathy, in his long, lined face.

"I don't know what to do," Link confessed, throwing his head back and smiling unhappily at his father. Tom Mackenzie's heart shook with a fearful hope as he saw his son's face.

He had prayed for this hour. But he gave no sign.

"What's matter, Link?" he asked briefly in a businesslike tone.

"Well, I think I'm in wrong, and I want to get out," he said simply. His father felt his heart stop.

But instantly he knew his role. He looked at Link, pursed his lips and elevated his eyebrows. There was a certain timidity in his aspect, a suggestion of a shrug moved his broad shoulders. He dared not speak. The wrong word now.

"It's Marianne," Link said then. "I think—I know—that I don't want to marry her."

His father eyed him seriously, patiently. His voice was mild. But his pulse hammered.

"Well, I'd be very glad if that was the case, Link."

"The trouble is," Link added impatiently, "that I don't think she—that is, I think she is kind of counting on it."

"Yes," said his father promptly, unemotionally, "I suppose she is."

"Dad," said Link, after a long silence, "what can a man—a decent man do?"

His father pursed his lips again, considering. But Tom Mackenzie was not really thinking of the immediate problem—it had been heavy on his spirit for a whole long year; it had worn his heart thin. The significance of tonight's attitude, on Link's part, was that at last there

Enjoy Unique Honeymoon

WHEN J. E. Williamson, New York, married recently, he devised a novel way of combining his honeymoon with a business trip. The inventor of a flexible tube with a glass chamber at the base for the purpose of underwater photography, he and his bride went to the South Seas for their trip and spent the first days of their married life at the bottom of the sea together. Above are shown Mr. and Mrs. Williamson and a diagram illustrating his peculiar invention.

appeared to be a loophole—a chance, that he might really hear, really understand, at last. And slight and utterly unexpected, so that opening was, it made his father tremble with hope and fearful joy. It made him afraid to speak, afraid to be silent lest the precious opportunity be wasted or be spoiled by some impulsive word from himself.

"She's legally a married woman, isn't she, Link?" the older man, with that favorite grammatical lapse of the business man, asked presently.

"Yes," Link answered. "But not any more married this minute than she has been since I met her," he admitted. "Or rather, since she told me she was," he amended after a pause.

His father looked at him perplexed.

"How do you mean?" he asked simply.

"Well," Link began. And in his voice there sounded the deep relief of being able to discuss the matter, in anything like a sympathetic atmosphere, at last. "I fell in love with her before I knew she was married."

"How could you be engaged? She knew she was married if you didn't," his father reasoned promptly.

"Yes, I know—but she was sort of carried off her feet," the boy elucidated somewhat lamely. "She's a funny little thing, impulsive and unreasonable and all that, and she knew then that she meant to divorce Scott, and she just let things drift."

"Drift!" the old man muttered, pondering. "And then, when she told you that she wasn't free, there wasn't any talk of an engagement then, eh?"

"Oh, no, there couldn't be. She was horribly nervous for fear her husband would find out she was in love with me," Link said. "She made a claim of desertion, you know, and all he had to do was to rejoin her, or try to rejoin her, at any time during the year to have the whole case thrown out. So she was pretty careful."

"But of course, it was understood that we would be married when she was free," he added, his tone becoming troubled and doubtful again.

"You wrote her letters to that effect?" the father asked unemotionally.

"Well, not after I knew she was married."

"Didn't, eh?" There were relief and pride struggling under the voice of the older man tried to make dispassionate and calm.

"No, sir."

"I'm glad of that," Major Tom observed mildly. And after a pause, during which Link scowled and stared down at the rug, he added, "What makes you think you'd like to be quits?"

Link looked up, shook his head and shrugged. The elder Mackenzie could hardly believe his own words, wondered if this was only a dream wrought of his anxious thought.

"Yes," Link said again. (To Be Continued)

A BAD MISTAKE

A schoolmaster was rung up on the telephone and informed in a hoarse voice that:

"Smith cannot come to school today as he has a very bad cold."

"Oh, yes," replied the master; "who is that speaking?"

Prompt and hoarse came the answer: "My father, sir."

Aren't the girls delightful in the water? Yes, and what a relief to have their legs out of sight.

Sir John Salmond, British Air Marshal, Passes Through on Niagara.

When the Niagara touched at Victoria Saturday she carried among her passengers a most distinguished traveler in the person of Sir John M. Salmond, K.C.B., C.M.G., C.V.O., D.S.O., Air Marshal of Great Britain since the year 1925. He left England for the purpose of inspecting air bases in Australia and Singapore, and is now making a rush trip across Canada for the purpose of making steamship connections with the Old Country.

His record of service is a distinguished one, both in the army and the air force. He joined the army as a subaltern in 1901, attained the rank of captain in 1910, became a colonel two years after the outbreak of war, and was made a major-general in 1918, becoming an Air Marshal in 1925.

During the South African War he won the Queen's medal with three clasps, and during the late war, over and above his D.S.O. and C.M.G., he received the Legion of Honor, the Croix de Guerre, the Order of Leopold, the Russian White Eagle, and was mentioned five times in dispatches.

NO WONDER

"What caused your husband to leave home?"

"I haven't the least idea. He just packed up and left the morning after my mother and two sisters came to spend the winter with us."

Reception Will Be Accorded Dr. Tolmie Next Thursday Night

The Conservatives of Ward Seven, Saanich, are making arrangements for a reception to Premier Tolmie, which is to take place next Thursday evening in Hampton Hall, off Burnside Road. There is to be a musical programme, and a few short speeches, including an address by Dr. Tolmie. Refreshments will be served, following which interlude there will be a dance.

The opportunity is to be afforded during the evening of meeting the Premier. The object of the gathering is largely for the purpose of allowing the lead of the Government to meet his constituents. This was impossible during the late campaign in view of the fact that Dr. Tolmie had to spend the greater part of his time in other ridings.

FILM EXPLOITS VAUDEVILLE LIFE

"Excess Baggage" at Dominion This Week. Depicts Existence
Behind Footlights
For beauty and charm, walk a tight rope! Just try it in your back yard some afternoon.
Josephine Dunn has discovered a secret. Here's how it happened.
She was playing in William Haines starring picture, "Excess Baggage," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, now at the Dominion Theatre.
Haines plays the role of a tightrope walker and a rope had been left up on the set for days. Naturally everybody in the company had tried to walk it, including Miss Dunn, the leading lady.
"I watched some of the real tightrope walkers at work," said Miss Dunn, "and every one of them was graceful and had perfect carriage and poise. It's easy to see how this work would make them so but we can't all of us walk a tight-rope for an hour every day in our lives."
"Excess Baggage" is a story of life behind the scenes in a vaudeville theatre.

COLISEUM While Charlotte
THEATRE Greenwood, famous comedienne of the stage, was enjoying her first experience before a motion picture camera at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, during the filming of "Baby Mine," now showing at the Coliseum Theatre. Her husband, Martin Broome, famous American comedian, got "just as much of a kick" out of it. He watched his wife act in pictures, watched production, and stored away an idea for a new musical comedy written around the studio.
The new co-starring vehicle for Karl Dane and George K. Arthur, the heroes of "Rookies," in which Miss Greenwood, making her stage, plays the sweetheart of the elongated Dane.

COLUMBIA The filming of a huge THEATRE forest fire is not without its dangers in all the Columbia Theatre, will testify Twice during her attempt to find her way out of the maze of roaring flames which entirely surrounded her during the moment the motion picture cameras were recording the scene. Betty Blythe's hair caught fire. In both instances Lon Chaney sustained a painful burn on his hand in smothering out the flames. "It looks pretty on the screen, but I must say it was about the hottest I've had since I made my bow in the movies," Chaney remarked after he had recovered from his experience.

PLAYHOUSE Like the artisan of THEATRE old who specialized in difficult pieces of completing things in his line which others hesitated to attempt, Ernst Lubitsch has triumphed with his production of "Lady Windermere's Fan" for Warner Bros. This remarkable screen version of the brilliant Oscar Wilde play opened yesterday at the Playhouse.
It is also a triumph for the sparkling cast which had been carefully selected for this play, and decidedly an Irene Rich triumph.
Miss Rich never was more beautiful, and certainly has never given a performance that equals her Mrs.
Erlynne in charm, power and brilliance. She is every inch the sophisticated charmer whom men adore and women envy, with a poise and subtle manner which is stamped with the Lubitsch touch. "Lady Windermere's Fan" is a brilliantly directed and perfectly acted "photoplay."

Gordon McLeod Has Capable Support for His Canadian Tour

With the announcement that Gordon McLeod, the sensational young English star who was picked by Sir John Martin Harvey to take his place in "Scaramouche," both in London and for the bulk of last year's Canadian tour now heads his own company, considerable interest is focused on the sporting cast. Mr. McLeod brings two widely contrasted plays to the Royal next week—the costume comedy, "Miss Elizabeth's Prisoner," and Glencester, a forecast of future promise.
"A Bill of Divorcement." From all accounts, Mr. McLeod has raised the ranks of well-known younger London players and succeeded in inducing an outstanding group to desert the Old Land for the first time. On top of that, he secured one of the greatest of future producers, A. E. Anson, to take personal charge of the staging and productions.

It is announced that the production of Rose Marie this evening at the Royal Victoria Theatre, will commence at 8:15 o'clock.

SHAKESPEAREAN PLANS ARRANGED

Group of Six Plays Will Be Presented Here by Stratford-on-Avon Festival Company

Six Shakespearean plays, three comedies, one tragedy and two histories, are expected to be on the repertoire of the Stratford-on-Avon Festival Company on their approaching visit here, according to Mr. Randolph Hartley, an advance representative, who chatted over the plans with a Colonist man on Sunday.
The comedies will be "The Merry Wives," "The Merchant of Venice" and "The Taming of the Shrew." The selected tragedy is "Hamlet," and the histories are
"Richard III" and "Julius Caesar."
Comedies have been well supported during the present Canadian tour, but the histories are still fairly popular, Mr. Hartley says.
Mr. Archibald Fowler, of Stratford, chairman of the organization controlling the birthplace and other Shakespearean associations, who came to Victoria last November in the interests of the new Memorial Theatre campaign, is again touring Canada and is expected here in the course of a few days.

Missions to Seamen Has Extensive Organization, With Long Record of Usefulness

In connection with the visit of Admiral E. F. Bruen and Mr. H. E.
Barker to Victoria, The Colonist has been supplied with a number of interesting facts with regard to the Missions to Seamen.
The Missions, which was founded in the year 1855, and has for its patron and patroness Their Majesties the King and Queen, obtained in the year 1913 the consent of the Prince of Wales to become vice-patron. "I know," said the Prince, on the occasion of his taking this office, "that the Missions to Seamen does an enormous amount of good in looking after merchant seamen in all the large ports. This is really an important work, and cannot be too greatly encouraged."
Now that the organization, which started in quite a small way, is seventy-three years old, it is interesting to glance at a few figures which should serve to show how it has flourished. There are sixty-nine chaplains, 124 institute keepers, sixty-nine stations occupied at home and forty-nine abroad. There are 159 seamen's churches and institutes, and publications of all kinds, put on board ships during the past year, total about one million.
The Missions to Seamen is not merely a society doing this work, but, as the Archbishop of York once said, "the church of the seaman in England, working among her sailor sons by means of this mission, which is part of the Church of England's work in all countries and on all

WEATHER MARS O.C. FOOTBALL

Saturday's Matches Played Under Unpleasant Conditions—Lockhead Scores Hundredth Counter

EVERTON CAPTURES HARD-FOUGHT GAME

LONDON, Nov. 12 (C.P. Cable).—Unsettled weather prevailed over England Saturday and soccer matches for the most part were played under very unpleasant conditions.

In the feature match of the English League, first division, Derby County made a show of Leicester City and climbed to a clear lead in averages. Derby County started off with a rush and McIntyre scored in the first half minute of play. Robson put Derby two up before the interval, and Whitehouse, twice, and Stephenson, got away with easy goals. Leicester's only satisfaction was that one of their goals came from Lockhead, which enables him to claim his century in league football. Hine got the other.

Blackburn Rovers underestimated Bury and were hard put to get a draw. Smith put Bury ahead in the first half. Burton scored the equalizer.

Sheffield Wednesday had a hard fight with Manchester United. Hooper put the Sheffielders ahead early, and just after the turn-round Gregg tied things up. The Wednesday got the winning goal in the last second of the game when Hansen netted.

Everton and Cardiff City put up a display which was probably the most evenly-contested match of the first division fixtures. There was no scoring in the first half and it was not until the twenty-third minute of the second half that Weldon tallied for the league champions to give them the goal which won the match.

Clapton Orient and Notts County gave a sterling display in one of the leading matches in the second division. The Orient got an early advantage through Williams' fine goal, but Notts were able to get on even terms through Andrews' tally just before half time. Williams again set the Orient in front but Notts equalized when Mills led a free kick. No more scoring was possible.

The other highlight in the second division, was Bradford win, deservedly over Hull City. In a third division match Luton and Crystal Palace scored eight goals, the former getting five through Reginald, Bedford twice and Yardley twice. Havlock hat-tricked for the Palace.

QUINETTES TAKE LEAD

Johnny Quinn and his band of Quinettes broke the three-cornered tie that had existed in the league up to the beginning of last week, when Quinettes and Times Compos caught them. Skipper Quinn paved the way to victory by carrying off both the individual and aggregate honors. In the first game he bowled 232, and finished with an aggregate of 980. L. Freer led the losers with 203 in the second game and a grand total of 550.

CAFÉ BREAKS STREAK

Poodle Dog Cafe, in the Commercial League, broke the winning streak of the Victoria Baggage five by taking the third game of their battle in the first. This is the first time this season that Baggage-men suffered defeat. The first game ended in a tie and will be settled today, when each man on both teams will bowl a frame. The second game was a clean-cut win for Victoria Baggage, while they were given their first setback in the third and final contest. J. Wilson led the Baggage-men both in individual and aggregate scores, by rolling 211 in the second game and having a total of 517. A. Manson led the Cafemen by taking the same honors, with 187 and 498, respectively.

DETROIT, Nov. 12 (C.P.).—A new Canadian professional hockey league season opened here tonight in a manner highly satisfactory to the majority of some 13,500 fans who gathered to see the Detroit Olympics entertain the Windsor Bulldogs with a 4-0 trouncing. Pierre Belisle, former Toronto National Leaguer, scored three of his club's goals. Big Bill Bridge contributed the other goal.

Stated to have been an under-sheriff in Ireland, a man named Barry was sentenced at London sessions to five weeks' imprisonment in the second division, and his licence suspended for two years, for being drunk in charge of a motor car at Chelsea. Counsel for Barry said he had been decorated with the M.C., was twice mentioned in dispatches, and was wounded three times during the war, losing his left arm. The chairman said this was Barry's second conviction for being drunk in charge of a motor vehicle. His licence was restored to him, and in two months he was drunk again.

LOCAL PROS TO PLAY IN OREGON GOLF

Phil Taylor and Walter Gravin Leave for Portland—Will Join Two Vancouver Professionals

SNAPPY FIELD WILL TAKE PART

Phil Taylor, of the Victoria Golf Club, and Walter Gravin, pro at Uplands, left on yesterday afternoon's boat en route to Portland, where they will take part in the $5,000 Oregon Open at the Waverley Golf Club, this week. The local will be joined at the tournament by Dave Black and Don Sutherland, Vancouver pros.

Not all are going to be in that field that has been advertised by the enthusiastic, hopeful management, but there will be enough of the stars of the Eastern professional golfing ranks to give the tournament a lot of class.

For instance, Leo Diegel, P.G.A. champion, will not be there, as has been promised. Nor will Bobby Cruickshank, who has been ill for months; nor will Joe Turnesa, but Bill Mehlhorn, Al Espinosa, Tommy Armour, Billy Burke, Al Watrous, and possibly Harry Cooper and Johnny Golden will be present, of those previously announced.

HAGEN, FARRELL TO PLAY

Of course, what will be the greatest joy to the Portland folks is the assured presence of Walter Hagen and Johnny Farrell.

The upper district will be represented by Mortie Dutra, of Tacoma; Bert Wilde, of Bellingham; and Frank Rodia, Johnny Jones, Cleve Jefferson, Frank Noble and Walter Pursey, all of Seattle.

It was Farrell who declared he had the word of the principals themselves for that Diegel, Turnesa and Cruickshank would not make the Portland tournament.

Those Easterners who will be in the Oregon Open, with the exception of Hagen and Farrell, will probably take part in the first Hawaiian Open, November 29 to December 2. They will leave San Francisco on the Matson liner, Matsonia, November 21, and will return on December 21, to be ready for Southern California Open tournaments which will be topped off with the $10,000 Los Angeles event.

The play at Portland this week starts Thursday and continues through Friday and Saturday, for a total of seventy-two holes.

"Sugar and Spice N' Everything Nice"

THE talented author (name unknown) of the old nursery rhyme from which we have borrowed these pregnant words, evidently knew something about tickling fickle appetites. It may be that he (or, more likely, she) had spice cakes in mind at the time. By the way, all ye mothers of growing children, a few spice cakes in the luncheon bags will be appreciated by your young people. Here's a recipe for you:

1 cup butter 2 teaspoons Magic Baking Powder
1 cup brown sugar 1 teaspoon each of extract of nutmeg, cinnamon and ginger
1 pint flour 1 cup milk
1 teaspoon each of caraway and coriander seeds

Sift flour, sugar and baking powder together, rub in the butter and add milk, seeds and extracts. Mix into smooth batter; bake in patty tins for 10 or 12 minutes.

ELECTION TO BE BITTER BATTLE

RUMANIAN PARLIAMENT DIS-SOLVED—POLLING EARLY IN DECEMBER

Juliu Maniu, head of the Peasant party, who, as Premier, took over the reins of Government, had earlier announced the dissolution of Parliament as an indispensable condition to his forming a Cabinet. He declared that Parliament as constituted was not representative and there should be new and honest elections. Maniu gained additional support by his vow loyally to support the present monarchy and the regency.

All opposition parties in Rumania have formed a powerful combination to pursue a war to the death against Premier Juliu Maniu and his Peasant Government. The mighty Liberal party, goaded to fury by its summary dismissal by the regency, will fling itself into the fray with all the resources at its command.

Foreign observers here predict that it will be the most bitterly-fought campaign in the history of Rumania.

Better Days - Better Ways

MAN'S ingenuity has turned the dreams of yesterday into realities of to-day.

A marked contribution to modern progress has been made by Life Insurance. Among the advantages it affords is that it enables a person to "create an estate immediately and pay for it later."

For example: If you desire a $25,000 estate you can guarantee it by depositing 2% per year. (Age 33, London Life Jubilee Annual Dividend Policy). Even if you lived to make only one deposit the London Life would deliver to your heirs the entire $25,000.

Thus Life insurance makes it possible for you to set up an estate sufficient to provide a life income for your wife—a fund for your later years—a monthly cheque if you are disabled—or money for whatever other needs you may have.

The benefits of life insurance can be secured only while you are in good health. For this reason the agent is your friend when he advises you to take life insurance NOW.

Irish Fighter May Be Heavyweight Contender

Phil Scott and Tom Heeney May Be Displaced by Con O'Kelly as Britain's Aspirant for the Heavyweight Championship

By TOMMY LOUGHRAN
Light Heavyweight Champion of the World
(Copyright, 1928, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Perhaps the bouts at Madison Square Garden earlier in the week will have a bearing on the heavy-weight situation. At any rate, they presented two fellows who may cause their share of trouble before being eliminated. They are Otto Von Porat and a young Irish boy named Con O'Kelly, who was making his American debut.

True enough, Von Porat lost a decision to Paulino Uzcudun. But he endured a world of punishment without crumbling under it, and at the finish was rocking the Spaniard with his own deadly right hand. So far Von Porat has not been one of those to be seriously considered. He must be considered now. Paulino can hit about as well as most of the current heavyweights. Though he knocked the Scandinavian off his feet a couple of times, Otto came right back at him. That sort of stamina and courage and hitting ability is bound to attract attention.

WORKS UNDER FATHER
O'Kelly has been in America for some months, working every day under the instructions of his father, who was a very good boxer in his day. He's a big fellow—this Con—weighing 194 pounds, and showing lots of speed and boxing ability.

His people had confidence in him by pitting him against Ol Friedman in his first bout. Until a few months ago Al was boxing as a light heavyweight. Then he outgrew the division. He now scales around 185. He is a fair sort of boxer and has had a lot of success, particularly around New England. Certainly he was no opponent for a raw kid. But O'Kelly didn't turn out to be a raw kid at all. He showed so much that with more experience he is bound to be a great fighter. He has all the old Irish fighting instinct, and that means a lot to any man.

Perhaps O'Kelly will be a stronger contender than Phil Scott or Tom Heeney, who are Great Britain's leading contenders at the moment. At any rate, he has youth and steaming ambition. The boy will come along.

The other day I wrote of the tremendous fellows who go after the championship and what little success they usually have. On the same card with O'Kelly and Von Porat was Tiny Roebuck, the 245-pound Indian.

A man of that size simply can't handle himself properly in the ring. Roebuck was knocked out in one round by the big Italian, Arthur Dekuh. A year ago Dekuh was talked of as a prospect for the title. Then he rushed into a match with the experienced Jim Malone. That seemed to take the fire and ambition from him. Dekuh has not been a considered factor since. Against big, slow fellows like Roebuck and Pat Lester the Italian looks good. Against the fleet, faster punching ones he doesn't.

I'm particularly pleased at the showing of O'Kelly. If he is brought along carefully and properly he ought to be a sensation. You can't make champions overnight, and many a fine prospect has been ruined by pitting him against star opposition too early in his career. There are plenty of fellows for O'Kelly to fight. He'll be a great drawing card.

DETROIT LOOKS FOR GREAT ICE HOCKEY SEASON

Owners Think Addition of Herberts and Lewis Will Bring Team Into Championship Class This Year

CORDIE FRASER TO PLAY ON DEFENCE

DETROIT, Nov. 12.—Professional ice hockey in Detroit this year will see its most prosperous season in the belief of owners and management of the Detroit Cougars. Detroit's contenders for the 1929 National League title. Firm in this conviction, officials of the Olympia have invested nearly $50,000, half the purchase price of the franchise in 1926, in new players.

Last year, the first of the Cougars in the huge Olympia rink saw a near capacity of 10,000 at the home games. The Cougars drew largely from Canada's hockey fans, thousands trying across the border to see their national sport at its best. In the flashing drives of Herberts, the highest priced of the new Cougars, and the dazzling speed of "Herbie" Lewis, Duluth speed artist, Manager Jack Adams this year believes he has the needed power to carry Detroit into the playoffs. GORDIE FRASER former member of the Victoria Cougars, world champions, and now with Detroit, who will work on the defence again this year. Fraser was moved up to the forward line last season in an effort to bolster the Cougars' attack, but now additional need let him take his place on the second line from the forward line and put him in a guard position, a position to which he is best suited.

Lewis, reputed to be as fast a skater as the famed Howie Morenz, Canadian ace, will fill the centre post, where the greatest Cougar weakness was exhibited last year. He will replace Frank Foyston, veteran centre, who will manage the Detroit Olympics this year.

BOSTON TIGERS OPEN WITH WIN

BOSTON, Nov. 12.—The Boston Tigers opened the Canadian-American Hockey League season today by defeating Newark 1-0. Mackay, Tiger defence guard, shot the winning goal in the opening minute of the last period.

COAST LEAGUERS VOTE DEADLOCKED

Ten Ballots Fail to Settle Election of President and Meeting Adjourned

PORTLAND, Nov. 12.—Hopelessly deadlocked on the question of election of a president, directors of the Pacific Coast Baseball League gave up the attempt after the ballots had been taken tonight and adjourned until January 21, for the Winter meeting at Hollywood.

Forces lined up behind William H. McCarthy, of San Francisco, former league president and Harry A. Williams, Los Angeles, present head of the circuit, in the final balloting.

After one season of experience with it, directors of the league voted to abandon the split season, and returned to the old straight-through schedule of twenty-eight weeks of play. The vote was five to two against the split season, with William Lane, owner of the Hollywood club, and sponsor of the split season last season, not voting. The two San Francisco clubs, the Seals and the Missions, and Portland, Seattle and Oakland opposed the split season. Sacramento and Los Angeles favored it.

The directors decided to open the 1929 season on March 26.

ENGLISH BOWLERS DISMISS NEW SOUTH WALES TEAM FAST

SYDNEY, N.S.W., Nov. 12.—The New South Wales team were put all out today in their first innings against the touring English team for a score of 349 runs. This total was run up in the remarkably fast time of five hours, or 89.8 runs the hour. Kellyway with 93, not out, was the principal scorer.

As Told by Big Leaguers

Talking Today
HUGHEY CRITZ: Nailing the Ball for a Freak Homer.
COTTON TIERNEY: A Collision That Set Fire to the Centre-field Fence.
RABBIT MARANVILLE: A Strange Ending to An Exhibition Game.

By J. P. GLASS
HUGHEY CRITZ, famous second baseman, of the Cincinnati Reds, says, that the funniest home run ever he saw came up before he landed in the majors.

It was after he had gone from Memphis to Minneapolis. "During the Spring training," says Critz, "we played an exhibition game in Beaumont, Texas."

"There wasn't much to the game as I recall it. We won rather easily. "One of the things that helped us to win was a freak home run. I forget which of the Minneapolis batters hit it. Anyway, he tore off a terrific line drive to right field which carried all the way to the fence."

"We thought the ball would bounce back off the fence and he would get about a two-base hit. But when the ball struck near the top of the board structure it didn't rebound. "It had stuck on a nail. "The batsman on home while the Beaumont right fielder tried to climb up the fence and pick off the ball."

BALL PARK FIRE
Rabbit Maranville, echoing the sentiments of many other big league players, says that Cotton Tierney, the old National League third baseman, was a past master at joke-making. Maranville quotes Tierney as telling the following story about himself when the two were members of the Pittsburgh team. Said "Cotton":

"When I was playing right field with Tulsa in the Texas-Oklahoma League, the game went extra innings one afternoon. We struggled on till dusk with no result. "Tulsa was in the field when a fellow on the other team hit a hard line drive clear out to the fence in centrefield. It was dark as the centrefielder and I set chase for it. "We lost track of the ball in the gloom, but not of each other. We collided and our heads came together with a bang. You could see the sparks fly, even from the grandstand."

"The centrefield fence was wood. One of the sparks flew over and set it afire."

STUNNING PLAY
Almost as good as this story, I am told by Rabbit Maranville himself. Here is how it goes: "I was on a barnstorming tour and in a little Western city we had the home club beaten 3 to 2 when we finished our turn at bat. The boys in and we got two of them out. Then the next man hit a high fly to right field, where we had a young fellow playing who hadn't much experience."

"It was a sure out, so all of our fellows ran for the bus and hurried to the hotel, where we took our shower baths, ate our dinner and then went out to the lobby to read and look over the evening papers. "It was then that the right fielder came walking in in his uniform. "Where have you been? we asked, surprised. "Out in the outfield lying unconscious," said "That high fly hit me on the head!"

MARANVILLE BIG NOISE ON CARD'S TEAM

McKechnie Put Him on the Line-Up to Pep Remainder of Silent Comrades, Old Scout Says

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—"Old Scout," baseball writer, says that hitting, fielding, base running and inside playing are not enough to win a championship. "Noise is vital. The reason back of the benching of Tommy Thevenow last season is now being brought to light. Tommy was sent to the pine box because Manager McKechnie found it necessary to end the deadly silence that enfolded the great Cardinal machine. Holm, Hafey, Douthitt, Harper and Thevenow were rated as the greatest galaxy of silent men that ever were gathered on one team.

The problem that McKechnie faced was to pep up that outlay. The move of benching Thevenow and sending the chattering Rabbit Maranville to the short post was like a tonic on the team.

GEHRINGER WILL STAY AT SECOND
This veteran, who probably won't be mentioned when the National League judges are considering the most valuable player, turned the team upside down. His jaws never were silent, his arms and legs seldom still. He was the lone eagle of noise on a drab ball club. In addition they say that the Rabbit kept signaling to the outfielders with his hands behind his back, moved Watt and Holm where they should be and a little Napoleon of the ball field. That is why no mention of letting Maranville go has been noted in St. Louis.

BARKES AT SECOND?
Charley Gehringer is booked to play second base for the Tigers next season. That was the first announcement made by Bucky Harris when he took up the reins at Detroit. Harris, not yet thirty-two, thereby takes himself out of the Keystone trade, where he was long rated as one of the best in the country. Incidentally the new Tiger pilot let it become known that most of the jobs on the Detroit team for next season are wide open, the best men only being sure of getting places.

At least six clubs in the American League are ready to talk trade and Detroit is one of them. Some of the outfielders may be sent down the river but Harris, profiting by Moriarty's error in letting Maranville and Blue get away, will go along on trading.

Harris may fill the third base post himself. He worked in one game last season for Washington at that corner evidently with the intention of trying his hand there in 1929.

"I am going to keep myself in condition to play any place on the left side of the infield," said Harris. "Gehringer is a fixture at second but other places are open. If I am needed I will be ready to jump in anywhere. I am going to lift the Tigers higher than sixth place and higher than my old team Washington finished last season."

CHARLEY BELANGER Defeats Dillon
CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—Charley Belanger successfully defended his Canadian light-heavyweight title tonight by winning a ten-round decision over his rival, Harry Dillon, of Winnipeg, in the White City arena. The champion won six rounds by a wide margin, while Dillon showed his best attack in the eighth round, the only one he won. Belanger weighed 176 1-4 and Dillon 175 1-4.

VARSITY RUGGERS DEFEAT EDMONTON BY NINE TO FIVE

VANCOUVER, Nov. 12.—University of British Columbia English Rugby team defeated Edmonton here this afternoon 9 points to 5.

The game was played on a slippery field, with a greasy ball, and fumbles were frequent on both sides. Varsity, in particular, could not seem to hang onto the ball and missed several excellent opportunities to score by fumbling at crucial moments.

The Edmonton players put up a strong fight, and led the students by a 5 to 0 score until well into the second half. Their chief handicap seemed to be a lack of knowledge of the rules, and several times they lost hard-earned ground by being called upon for being offside.

Trouble Signs For Those Past 40

Bladder Weakness, Nervousness, Headaches, Frequent, Painful, Scanty Urination, Getting-Up-Nights

The embarrassing annoyance and serious misery of bladder weakness often brings "discomforts of old age" to those who really ought to be in the very prime of life.

Countless thousands, perhaps seven out of ten, of folks near middle life are afflicted victims of headaches, nervousness, pains in back and down through groins, frequent but scanty and painful urination—getting-up-nights.

While serious if neglected, it is ordinarily a simple matter to relieve these troubles by the pleasant home use of Dr. Doan's BACKACHE EXPELLER, which have been victorious in thousands of cases, after other treatments have failed.

No matter how serious or of how long standing your condition may be, you can quickly prove the value of DR. DOAN'S BACKACHE EXPELLER with one trial.

"I am going to keep myself in condition to play any place on the left side of the infield," said Harris. "Gehringer is a fixture at second but other places are open. If I am needed I will be ready to jump in anywhere. I am going to lift the Tigers higher than sixth place and higher than my old team Washington finished last season."

HARD WATER TOWN TO-DAY...

SOFT WATER TOWN TOMORROW

A SMOOTH CLEAN SHAVE EVERY DAY

You know how hard it is to lather with hard water—and how easy it is with soft. When you shave in a hard water town you should lather longer—long enough to give you the usual smooth sure shave from your Gillette.

There's a tip there, too, for shaving in soft water. A little longer lathering, if you can spare an extra minute or two, and your Gillette Blade gives you a swift luxury shave.

Your Gillette faces a different job every day. Weather, water, soap, all vary. You don't even offer it the same face to shave. One morning your jaw is firm, your hand is steady. The next you are cross, nervous; your skin is taut. It's another face and a hard one to shave.

But, one thing you can rely on. Your Gillette Blade packs a clean, smooth, sure shave. Gillette insures that. Of every nine people at the Gillette plant, four are blade inspectors, highly skilled to detect the slightest variation from Gillette standards of quality.

TO MAKE SHAVING A REAL PLEASURE
The Gillette Blade is at its best in a New Improved Gillette Razor. The combination makes shaving a luxury that you look forward to. You shave at least once a day. Why not enjoy it? A choice of ten New Improved models suitably cased for various uses, $5 to $75.

General Motors shares, new and old, sagged a point and more, and United States Steel closed a fraction lower.

There was enormous buying of the low-priced oils, Richfield jumping nearly 5 points to a new peak. Chrysler and Packard were the strong points of the automotive group, mounting 7 and 3 points respectively. Hudson, Mack Truck, Motor Wheel, and Murray Corporation lost about 2 to 5 points. Allied Chemical, Case Threshing and International Nickel made extreme gains of 7 to 13 points, recording new peaks. General Electric touched its previous high, then lost more than 3 points and Eastman Kodak sold down about 5 points at one time. Rails followed divergent trends.

Foreign exchanges were generally firm. Prices improved in the bond market today in sympathy with the strength of stocks, oils, utility and railroad issues leading the advance.

VIRGINIA STRONG

FEATURED TODAY

Light Classical Selections Also Presented in Programme Over ABC Chain

A programme of spirited light classical selections will be played by the American Salon Orchestra this evening over stations of the ABC Chain between 9 and 10 o'clock, opening with a composition by Weber, "Jubel Overture." This composition was written in honor of the fiftieth anniversary of the Saxon King's accession to the throne. It is Weber's use of the melody of "America," which is also the tune of the German "Heil dir im Siegerkranz," with dramatic effect in the climax.

Following the "Jubel Overture," well remembered melodies from Lehar's perennial favorite, "The Merry Widow," will be played. Lehar, a Hungarian composer, is best known for his light operas, of which "The Merry Widow" is undoubtedly the most popular. He possesses unusual gifts of invention and workmanship.

Virginia Strong, coloratura soprano and the most recent addition to the staff of KJH and the ABC Chain, will be featured as the vocalist in an hour's programme of classical music this evening between 7 and 8 o'clock.

RETURNED HOME

Miss Strong, who has recently returned from a concert tour of the East, is the daughter of Kuria Strong, well-known Northwest vocal teacher, and the sister of Vivian Strong Hart, formerly well-known in Pacific Coast musical circles and now a prima donna in light opera and musical comedy in the East.

Miss Strong has been a pupil of her talented mother since she was a child, and as her brilliant, colorful voice is well adapted to radio broadcasting, she holds promise of being immensely popular with Northwest radio audiences. Her songs for this evening include two compositions by Tschakowsky, "Die Thrane Debt" and "Speak Not, Oh Beloved."

This programme brings an outstanding group of great artists before the microphones of the ABC Chain, which includes Peter Merembo, noted Russian violinist; Kolla Leventine, Russian cellist; and Cecile Baron, pianist.

The instrumental numbers of this programme are composed entirely of compositions by Tschakowsky, which include "Theme and Variations," from the "A Minor Trio," "Chanson Triste" and "Souvenir de Hapsal."

THE HYPOCRITE

Cynic—What do you think of the many arrests for kleptomania that come before the courts?

Philosopher—Most of them are entirely innocent of all intent to do wrong, the trinkets being mechanically dropped and not stolen, or, at best, while thinking of something else.

Cynic—All bosh! They are thieves—born thieves, that is.

Philosopher—Possibly. But before we part I will thank you for my penknife, which you borrowed a moment ago to sharpen a pencil.

While we were talking you dropped it into your pocket.

To test the springs of a mattress an elephant weighing three tons recently passed it in various attitudes for forty-five minutes without causing the slightest damage. What is even more astonishing, the elephant was uninjured.

Piles Go Quick

Piles are caused by congestion of blood in the lower bowel. Only an internal remedy can remove the cause. That's why salves and cutting fail. Dr. Leonard's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, succeeds, because it relieves this congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Hem-Roid has given quick, safe and lasting relief to thousands of Pile Sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. MacFarlane Drug Co., Vancouver Drug Co., and druggists everywhere sell Hem-Roid with this guarantee. (Adv.)

TOMATOES

Tomatoes are an acid fruit of the tomato bush, which along with potatoes and tobacco, is related to the nightshade family. When first introduced to Europe, tomatoes were known as the "love apple" because it was considered that one could commit suicide by eating them; they were only used for ornamental purposes.

Tomatoes grow best in warm climates, the plant being a native of the New World, having been cultivated in Mexico and South America centuries before the Spanish Conquest. Although at one time considered unfit to eat, tomatoes are now esteemed as one of our most valuable protective foods against disease. An analysis of the fruit shows that it is very alkaline-forming and is rich in potassium, calcium, magnesium, iron, chlorine, and vitamins A, B and C. Tomatoes are one of the foods that can be canned and yet retain their vitamin value.

Since tomatoes contain large quantities of malic and citric acids, they should not be eaten with any starchy foods, but they do make good combinations with either meat, fish, or non-starchy vegetables. The organic acids do not increase the acidity of the body since they are oxidized by the liver and release the basic salts which make the blood more alkaline.

People with rheumatism or gout sometimes believe that they should not eat tomatoes, but this is a mistake. Tomatoes are very good foods to use in these diseases, but of course, only in the right combinations.

The United States now uses the most tomatoes per capita, with Italy following a close second. In Canada and Northern Europe most of the tomatoes consumed are of the canned variety. Canned tomatoes are practically as wholesome as when fresh and may be used to replace the raw in salads and cooking.

BAKED TOMATOES

Wash six medium-sized tomatoes and cut a slice from the stem end of each. Remove pulp carefully, drain, and mix with a half cup of Melba toast crumbs, a half cup of minced mushrooms, either canned or fresh, two tablespoons of chopped ripe olives, and two tablespoons of minced ham. Fill tomatoes and bake for about thirty minutes in a pan which has been placed in a larger pan containing hot water to a depth of an inch or more. Serve hot with a lump of butter and a little chopped parsley on each tomato.

STUFFED TOMATO SALAD

Peel and remove the centres from large firm tomatoes. If the tomatoes are plunged into boiling water and allowed to remain for about one minute the skins will slip off very easily. Drain the scooped out portion and mix with two parts of cottage cheese, one part minced ripe olives and a little chopped parsley. Serve on crisp lettuce leaves with slices of cold boiled beef.

CREAM OF TOMATO SOUP

Cut six or eight medium-sized tomatoes into small pieces and cook until tender, adding a small amount of honey—about a teaspoonful. When tomatoes are soft enough, press through colander. Have ready in another pan about two cupfuls of very hot thin cream. Add this hot cream to the tomato pulp, which has been re-heated, stirring very rapidly and the mixture will not curdle. Continue stirring for a few minutes and when ready to serve, season with a little celery salt and a lump of butter. If desired, thin strips of Melba toast may be served with the soup.
